

486 BC

1912 Dates J-BK

In Rome, the first agrarian laws.

486 BC

The Consul SPIRIOUS CASSIUS brought in the first agrarian bill. He was not successful and fell a victim to the vengeance of the infuriated patrician order.

486 BC

there were AGRARIAN riots at Rome.
the Patricians kill SPURIUS CASSIUS.

486 BC

XERXES became King of Persia

486-464BC

beginning XERXES

464-423BC ARTAXERXES I begin

486-404 BC

Revolts of Egyptians Against Persians

404-341 Egypt was independent

486-465BC

Xerxes I was king of Persia

486 BC

12th Agrarian Law: Spurius Cassius, the Consul, proposed a more just division of the public land. He suggested that a portion should be given to the poor plebeians and Latens, and that the rest, instead of being granted to the wealthy, was now to be leased to individuals the rent of which was to go to the public treasury. It caused a bitter struggle. The wealthy opposed and the per phreatic also were domesticated because the taking over to those with them.

SPECIES CASSIUS was killed.

486BC

Roman League with Hannibals

486 BC

Death of Darius.
Accession of Xerxes

5th Cen B.C.

Zeno: 'Achilles and the Tortoise.'

486 BC

Egyptian revolt from Persia.

Roman league with HERNICANS

486BC

rules till 465BC.

XERXES I, the Great ruler of Persia; he demands tribute from the Greek states, most of which refuse.

486 BC

Agrarian proposal of Spurius
Cassius

486 BC

SPURIUS CASSIUS AND PROCLUS VERGINIUS were made consuls.

A treaty was concluded with the HERNICANS, and $\frac{2}{3}$ of their land was taken from them.

486 BC

DURANT

The Consul SPURIUS CASSIUS proposed an allotment of captured lands among the poor. The patricians accused him of currying popular favor with a view to making himself king, and had him killed.

486BC - 464BC

The date of EZRA's journey from Babylon to Jerusalem, leading back another party of exiles is disputed. but an earlier sitting in the reign of XERXES I (486-464BC) or

ARTAXERXES I (464BC → 423BC) is preferable, if only because the authority granted to EZRA in matters pertaining to both Persian and traditional mores law is most easily understood to be a direct outgrowth of policies initiated by Davis. FZRA the "Oracle" seems to have been a prominent legal scholar within the continuing Jackson community. It is the Bryanna, who served as advisor to the Persimmon in matters affecting especially the Jerusalem Temple.

486 BC

FIRST AGRARIAN LAW [Rome]

Spurius ~~Cassius~~ Cassius, the Consul, proposed a more just division of the public land. He suggested that a portion should be given to the poor plebeians and latens, and that the rest, was to be leased to individuals, the rent of which was to go to the public treasury.

this caused a bitter struggle